Lac La Biche HSA Hears Emergency Welfare Talk

LAC LA BICHE—A large and attentive group of parents, teachers and other interested persons listened to a talk on emergency welfare given by W. A. Smith, assistant planning officer from the provincial department of public welfare at the Home and School Association meeting January 26.

Mr. Smith first dwelt on the need for emergency organization in the light of the impending threat of nuclear attack, the unrest throughout the world today, the increase in tension over broken peace treaties and the continuance of test explosions, not only by the Russians but by our allies as well.

He stated that our way of life is threatened by the population increase in the Mongolian countries, causing a need for more room for the millions of those lands. He said we must not allow an enemy to take over our country but we must prepare to defend it.

In emphasizing the important part the individual citizen can play in preparation for defence, in case of a nuclear attack on our country, Mr. Smith showed that preparedness was similar to fire insurance. We do not expect our home to be destroyed by fire, but nevertheless we recognize that it is good business to insure.

Speaking of setting up emergency welfare services, Mr. Smith said that the director of civil defence in each municipality, in conjunction with the mayor or reeve and other elected representatives of the people would share the responsibility of caring for the people. Welfare services would be divided into five departments: emergency feeding, emergency clothing, emergency lodging, registration and enquiry, and personal services. In choosing the heads of these different departments the speaker urged that great care be taken, for it has been proven that in a disaster only one third of the people react normally.

In answering those who questioned the liklihood of Lac la Biche being a bomb target, the speaker pointed out the need for evacuation centers, saying concerning emergency lodging, that the War Measures Act will be enforced. This made it so important that municipalities be well organized in readiness to receive evacuees from disaster areas.

In closing his address Mr. Smith said, "Do not organize just to please Mr. Smith, but discuss it among yourselves and press your council to organize."

A lively question and answer period followed, until the meeting was adjourned, and continued over coffee and doughnuts. The speaker expressed pleasure over the profound interest shown by the group.

Daneliuks Preach Behind Iron Curtain

"The country is beautiful, the people are friendly and hospitable and I have liberty to preach the Word of God". With these words, Rev. Andrew Daneliuk entered into a discussion of his eight years of missionary service in Western Germany and in five instances during trips into Yugoslavia, where Bible teaching ministry and evangelistic ministry were conducted. It was of Yugoslavia that Mr. Daneliuk was speaking the above words. Mrs. Daneliuk has accompanied her husband behind the 'curtain' on three of his five trips. Mrs. Daneliuk specializes in child evangelism programs. She introduced the flannelgraph method of teaching in Yugoslavia.

Working out of the European head quarters of The Slavic Gospel Association, in Ulm, Germany, the Daneliuks have ministered to the Slavs throughout Europe. Their travels have taken them as far south as Macedonia. Churches of all denominations have been ministered to by the Daneliuks. Opportunity has been given to minister to the State Church in Yugoslavia, the Greek Orthodox Church. Besides the State Church, the Baptist Church is quite strong in Yugoslavia. The Methodists have secured strength in Macedonia.

While serving in Germany, Mr. Daneliuk has asisted with Youth For Christ endeavors of the American Military forces, as well as working with German Christian youth groups. Mr. Daneliuk has organized Slavic Bible conferences for Deeper Life Training in Germany, France and Austria.

Mr. Daneliuk is associated in his work with Rev. Peter Deyneka and both work through the Slavic Gospel Association with headquarters in Chicago.

While on furlough, Mr. Daneliuk made his home in Edmonton, and has been travelling throughout Alberta preaching and telling of his experiences in Europe. He has been in great demand in northern Alberta where he has been ministering to many Canadian Slavs. He will be leaving shortly for eastern Canada and the United States with missionary conferences and other special evangelistic services.

The Daneliuks have two chilren, Ruthann, and Timothy. They will return to Germany this summer to begin their third tour of duty. They expect to be able to resume their full duties upon their return to the field.

NOT A CHANCE

One senator had been making the rounds of his home territory to remind the voters that he'd been doing a right fine job for them in Washington. Following a speech before a women's group, he was introduced to a new student.

"Madam," he smiled, "I certainly hope this constituency will return me."

She shook her head. "I wish you luck, but from the short time I've been in this community I can assure you that these people never return anything!"

Mrs. McLean Named President St. Paul United Church Women

A historic occasion for women of the United Church took place at Wainwright United Church on Wednesday, January 24, when charter officers of St. Paul presbyterial were installed. A total of 85 delegates attended from Lloydminster, Kitscoty, Vermilion, Mannville, Innisfree, Ranfurly, Vegreville, Viking, Irma, Paradise Valley, Wainwright, Rosedale, Edgerton, Ribstone, Wildmere, Auburndale, Bonnyville, Grand Centre and Cold Lake. The inaugural service was for women on the presbyterial level of the new organization "United Church Women". This group is an integration of the Women's Association and Women's Missionary Society and embraces the aims and aspirations of the two former groups.

Rev. C. H. Miller of Vermilion was chirman for the business session. The following were elected as charter officers of St. Paul presbyterial: president, Mrs. W. S. (Mattie) McLean, Lloydminster; area presidents, Mesdames G. Thoreson, Innisfree; R. Tredger, Elk Point; J. A. Hamilton, Wainwright; L. Everett, Auburndale; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Nicholson, Vegreville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. K. Potter, Lloydminster; treasurer, Mrs. E. Long, Vermilion.

Representatives to the M & M Committee are Mesdames D. Williams, Vermilion; G. Marfleet, Vermilion and W. Wasyuk, Grand Centre.

Mrs. W. S. McLean thanked the delegates for the honor bestowed upon her in her election as charter president of United Church Women. She stated that with the honor came responsibility and a challenge—not only for the president and executive but for each individual member in every local UCW in the Presbyterial. She asked that all strive to make this "inaugural year" the best possible because the future of theUCW would depend on how well we have done our work.

The inaugural service took place at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Jackson Strapp welcomed the members to the service as minister of the Wainwright United Church and led in the call to worship. Rev. G. Andrews of Mannville read the chosen passages of scripture. In his sermon Rev. James Shortt of Kitscoty stated that a great and exciting task challenged the women of the new organization as surely as women were challenged by the church's work in pioneer days. He prayed that courage, strength and wisdom would be granted that the group might accomplish its high purpose. The officers were dedicated by Rev. Carlton Miller to conclude the ceremony.

The ladies of the UCW at Wainwright church were gracious hostesses at a luncheon and coffee breaks throughout the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Windrum of Devon visited the Diesel families of this community over a recent weekend.

The wiring for electrification of Owl River School is progressing rapidly. The lights will be welcome and will add to the visual comfort of the students and teachers on dark days.

Sympathy of the district is extended to Hugh Pozer, rancher of this vicinity, and to relatives living elsewhere, on the passing of Mr. Pozer's father, who was an old time rancher and pioneer here. Mr. Pozer was buried in the Lac la Biche Cemetery.

GREEN ACRES

By Fred Strashok, District Agriculturist

From time to time some individuals try to sell farmers or other citizens, goods that are not economical and do not help the individuals who acquire them. We had had that experience with farm machines, pots and pans, and others.

This year an unknown variety of barley, which is not recommended for seed by the Alberta Department of Agriculture, is being promoted in the Province at the present time. According to A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner, this unlicensed variety wil not benefit the individual farmer or the province as a whole.

Samples of this barley have already been mailed by promoters to farmers and country elevators. Mr. Wilson points out that there are always some ardent promoters who are anxious to capitalize on the enthusiasm of farmers by selling them new varieties or new crops at unwarranted prices.

Farmers who buy varieties or kinds of crops that have nothing to recommend them other than the exaggerated testimonial advertising are asking for trouble. They will be paying high prices for an inferior product and their returns will be less than from recommended varieties.

In Alberta, research stations and universities are continually breeding and testing crops with the hope of improving on varieties. Every year the Department of Agriculture publishes a list of recommended crop varieties for the particular soil and climatic zones in the province. This publication can be acquired from the District Agriculturist's office at Lac la Biche.

DEFICIENCY PAYMENT ON HOGS

It is very important that farmers who sell hogs in 1962 keep all hog marketing records. Under the Federal Governments new ruling, farmers will have to support their claims for deficiency payments this year by submitting their 1962 grading statements to the Agricultural Stabalization Board.

The support price for 1962 has been raised to the national weighted average of $23.65 per hundred weight on a maximum of 100 A and B grade hogs per producer. This is $1.00 higher than for the last two years. If the national weighted price average drops below the support level this year, the Agricultural Stabalization Board will make up the difference between the actual average selling price and the support price.

Mr. Charnetski, Alberta Livestock Supervisor stresses that it is very important that pig producers who did not register last year do so immediately with the Federal Department of Agriculture. Also they must keep all grading statements on file in case the Canada-wide weighted price average on Grade A and B hogs falls below $23.65.

In other words the farmers will have to apply for payments by the end of 1962 and support their applications by the hog grading statements.

AMA TEST REPORTS

The AMA station at Regina has been carrying out tests on different farm equipment that is being sold to farmers throughout Canada. These tests show the efficiency and the mechanical failures of some of the equipment, and the way this equipment is to be operated for most efficient use.

Some equipment that has been tested includes diskers, cultivators, rod weeders, swathers, combines, bale stookers, baler twine, Power mowers and others. If farmers would like to get reports on some specific equipment or machinery they may enquire at the district agriculturist's office in Lac la Biche. Some may be disappointed as not all the equipment has been tested.

News Of McMurray Anglican Church

The annual meeting of the Anglican parish of McMurray-Waterways took place in St. John's parish hall, McMurray, on Sunday evening, Jan. 21.

The well-attended meeting in the newly decorated hall heard the rector, the Rev. Peter Harris, give a detailed report of the work of the Church during the past year, with special reference to the activities following his appointment as rector last July. These included 16 teenagers and adults prepared for confirmation, 19 baptisms and the formation of an active branch of the Anglican Young People's Association which now had its own hockey team.

Interesting reports of a successful year's activities were read by Mrs. Alex Haxton, president of St. John's Auxiliary, and Mrs. Abe Mitchell, president of St. Aidan's Women's Auxiliary, while reports were also heard from Mrs. Ken Driver and Miss Beatrice Bird, Sunday School superintendents, and Mrs. Stewart Russell, Little Helpers secretary.

The Rev. Harris appointed, as his wardens, Mr. Haxton for St. John's McMurray and Mr. William Bird for St. Aidan's Waterways. J. W. Mann was elected by acclamation to be once more the people's warden. The following were elected to the vestry: the wardens, Cpl. T. Garvin, RCMP, Walter Hill, Stanley Wylie and Albert Mitchell.

Mrs. Walter Hill, parochial treasurer, submitted a financial statement showing that from the material point of view the parish had enjoyed a satisfactory year. Mrs. Hill was elected unanimously to the office of treasurer for the coming year, while Cpl. Garvin was elected envelope secretary.

A lunch, supplied by the ladies of the Women's Auxiliaries, during which church matters were discussed, concluded the evening.

According to your John Deere dealer, host for the event, Gobel will also appear on film as master of ceremonies. Films to be shown will include reports on haying, harvesting equipment, tractors and new John Deere equipment for 1962 in addition to Best of Oddities," repeating rarities in farming shown in past years, and a special dealer film entitled "Partners." Your dealer invites all farm families in the area to see the free show and to visit his store afterwards.

George Gobel, noted TV personality, will star in the coming John Deere Day program to be held at the Dreamland Theatre in Boyle on Friday, February 9 it was announced by Central Sales and Service host for the event.

In addition to lending his comedy to the role of "Uncle Henry" in a film fantasy which serves as a background for the entire program, Gobel will also double on flim as the program's master of ceremonies.

Woven into the program, which features, besides Gobel, Hollywood's John Carradine and child actor Billy Mumy, are six additional educational, informative films. These include the best in "Oddities," a collection of the most popular "Oddity" films shown in previous John Deere Days since the series began some years ago. Also included is "All in a Day's Work," an unusual harvest film showing late model combines being checked in grain fields in various parts of the country. Other films are "Pattern for Performance," the story of the relationship between careful manufacturing, checking, and testing of tractors, and the performance of the tractors in the field; "One-Man Hay Day," a report on the John Deere one-man haying system and the way it pays off in lowered labor cost and in increased milk and beef production from better hay; and "Partners," a film story showing the united efforts of manufacturer, dealer, and farmer in giving impetus to the business of agriculture. Of course, the highlight of the program is "What's New for '62," a complete line-up of what's new in tractors and equipment.

"It's a Family Program" said Mr. Radmanovich. "It's a real good blend of entertainment and information with enough smiles to make it truly enjoyable and enough serious interest to make it really worthwhile. The program will be free to all farmers and their families. And you don't have to own a John Deere tractor to attend—just being a practicing farmer is ticket enough."

"Let's get together JOHN DEERE DAY!"

George GOBEL

Winter Work Aid To Employment

Speaking in support of this year's winter work campaign, recently, Marcel Lambert, MP, said, "The experience of the past two or three years has shown the value of this campaign to get things done when men and materials are more readily available, in putting men to work when they would otherwise be seasonably employed. It is not only the man who gets the job who gains, but there are many jobs back of him to provide the materials that will be used."

"I urge everyone who can to initiate building programs now, when men and materials are easier to get. It has been proved that costs can be even lower than at other times of the year," Mr. Lambert concluded.

Luckily, the younger generation doesn't accept all the advice that parents offer.

FEATURED IN the array of new farm machinery to be shown to the John Deere Day audience here soon, is this new auger wagon. According in three minutes, permits fast handling of livestock feeds and fast de- to the host for the free show, this 90-bushel wagon, which unloads itself livery of combined grain from the field.

Saving of time and energy can be gained through improved storage in the kitchen and bedroom. For better kitchen storage many new accessories are available through department and hardware stores and the mail order catalogues. Other storage devices may be made at home from scraps of plywood. Here are a few storage problems which can be soloved inexpensively:

B. McCutcheon

For waste space between shelves: Buy or make step shelves. Add metal racks to cabinet door which swing into place in unused space.

For shelves too high or too low: Buy or make vertical dividers or racks to hold shallow pans, file fashion.

If cabinets are too deep: Add sliding shelves. A new metal device for this purpose is now available, which fastens in place with suction cups.

If drawers are disorderly: Buy or make divided cutlery drawers. Make drawer dividers to suit items, from plywood or heavy cardboard.

If drawers are too deep: Make a shallow sliding tray for half the drawer width. Add small strips of wood to slides of drawer for glides.

For waste space under sink: Buy stackable plastic vegetable bins, sliding towel rack. Make portable bench shelf (half the depth of the cabinet) which can be removed for plumbing repairs. Buy garbage can, wastebasket, or cleanser rack to attach to inside of sink door.

If more total storage is needed: Hang utensils on wall in proper work centers. Use pegboard on wall with variety of hardware available for hanging all types of articles.

To improve clothing storage a myriad of new accessories are now on the market, but reorganization combined with inexpensive do-it-yourself devices still plays an important role. For example:

Drawers: Buy plastic gadget trays, lingerie boxes and bags. Buy divider strips or make them from plywood or heavy cardboard, to keep items in orderly arrangement. Add a sliding tray to a deep drawer.

When you get into a crowd where one fellow is talkin louder than the rest, and most of the time, disengage yourself adroitly and let the rest of them listen.

What Is The Meaning Of St. Valentine Day?

The fourteenth of February is called St. Valentine Day, as the name day or feast of eight different Christian martyrs named Valentine; that is, in the medieval church, services were held on that day in memory of their martyrdom. The custom of sending valentines or gifts has nothing to do with the martyrs, however. It happened that a springtime festival which was kept by the Romans fell on the same day. The making of gifts on that day has come down from this old festival; but the origin of the custom was generally forgotten and in time the gifts were called valentines from the name given to the day. This is a good example of the way customs survive, sometimes for centuries, among people who do not remember how they arose.

Ceremony Marks Catholic Charities Council Opening

Ceremonies were conducted by Most Rev. Dr. J. H. MacDonald, Archbishop of Edmonton when the Council of Catholic Charities, responsible for co-ordinating all social welfare activities of the Roman Catholic Church, was officially opened.

The ceremony also marked the opening of the Catholic Family and Child Service. Director of both organizations is Rev. William Irwin, an Edmonton priest who holds a degree in psychiatric social work from Fordham University, New York.

He said the purpose of Catholic Charities is to form a unified social welfare program under the direction of the Roman Catholic Archbishop. The new set-up will ensure the maintenance of adequate standards in all its agencies he said.

Father Irwin said that too many persons nowadays think charity means "handouts" but the sense in which the word is used to describe the social services that make up Catholic Charities retains its original meaning. He defined this as "a love of one's neighbor that arises from a love for God."

He recalled that such charitable work on the part of the church is not new in Western Canada. He said it forms an important part of church activity since it is so closely connected with the care of souls.

Father Irwin said since the Grey Nuns established the first hospital in central and northern Alberta, various organizations have been formed as the need arose. He outlined the purposes of some of the agencies.

The O'Connell Institute cares for homeless children and the training and rehabilitation of delinquent girls is looked after at the Good Shepherd Home. The Catholic Immigration Office assists new Canadians in settling down in this country and an Indian and Metis Centre has just been established to help newcomers to the city. Food and clothing for the homeless and unemployed is provided at the Marian Centre.

The recent formation of the Family Service provides case-work services and counselling for families in trouble. It deals with marital problems, conflicts between children and parents, difficulties between aging parents and their offspring, mental health problems, and gives guidance for teen-agers.

Father Irwin predicted that the next development of social services will likely be the establishment of social service departments at the General, Misericordia and St. Joseph's Hospitals and the Youville Home. He said the purpose of these will be to help patients with the social, emotional and financial problems related to their illnesses.

Father Irwin said experience elsewhere shows such departments in a hospital help greatly in returning patients to their homes earlier in convalescence and thus alleviate the shortage of hospital beds. He claimed this is particularly true of those suffering psychosomatic illnesses.

Father Irwin emphasized that the social welfare activities of the Roman Catholic Church are simply attempts to alleviate any difficulties that stand in the way of her members achieving their supernatural purpose.

He said that Roman Catholic social workers today are doing the same thing as did such forerunners of theirs as St. Paul, St. Francis of Assissi and St. Vincent de Paul.

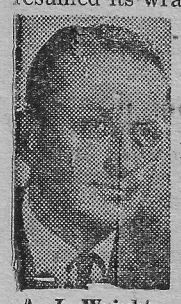
REPORT FROM OTTAWA

by ANTHONY J. WRIGHT

DOUGLAS SHOWS COURAGE AND CLARITY: At a press conference in Ottawa before Parliament resumed its wranglings, NDP leader



A. J. Wright

Tommy Douglas showed uncommon courage and honesty for a politician when commenting on apprenticeship laws. He said he disagreed with the 16-21 age limits imposed on persons wishing to learn certain trades in certain provinces, e.g. Ontario.

The limits were set after union pressures to keep newcomers out of lucrative trades such as plastering, steamfitting, electrical work, carpentry and some other "designated trades". Mr. Douglas was asked his views on a Toronto situation where the Ontario Department of Education had been obliged to cancel plans to train 250 unemployed Italian immigrants in trades useful in the construction business. The trades included plumbing, carpentry, steamfitting, plastering, etc. The Italians were aged 20-35.

Unions had forced the department to drop the plan. Union leaders claimed that in Toronto alone there were 500 unemployed carpenters. Therefore, they asked, why train more?

This whole union pressure knocks sideways government plans to turn out more skilled workers. Apparently some unions prefer to let unskilled workers stay that way rather than compete for jobs.

To his credit Mr. Douglas, who depends on the votes of many union members, did not duck the issue. But said what he thought, something other politicians here would certainly not have done. They would have claimed they had not seen the report or would have to wait until all the facts were in, etc., etc.

THAT SMALLPOX SCARE: It appears that for 22 years, which ended after the last war, British children had to be vaccinated against smallpox. The obligation was lifted when authorities decided that the risks of compulsory vaccination might not be worth the benefits. For one thing, I am informed, four children died of smallpox during the 22 years in Britain but 200 died from the after-or side-effects of vaccination.

So there—matter of choice!

CANADIAN CAUTION NOT ALWAYS WRONG: Anyone who knows this writer's views will agree that he has criticized Ottawa's cautious approach to exciting changes proposed by Washington or Europe. However Mr. Fleming's caution when asked to say whether Canada backed the latest Kennedy tariff proposals is, I think, wise. In general we welcome tariff-cutting but we cannot enthusiastically drool over the latest plan until we know whether or not Britain is to join the Six. Why? Because if she does and the U.S. cuts out tariffs on goods of which the U.S. and the EEC produce 80 percent, the cut might apply to most of the goods produced by humans. Surely Ottawa is right to "wait and see" for a while on such a sweeping, even though encouraging, program. We won't lose in this instance by waiting. This was the government's view too, I expect.

THAT FRIENDLY CONFERENCE: The Seventh Annual Committee meeting on Trade and Economic Affairs, between American and Canadian cabinet ministers here, was friendly, said reporters. They said so because a couple of ministers called each other by their first names and because through the closed doors of the conference room on the Saturday morning while the committee was trying to concoct a communique there came hearty laughter.

The ministers and their serried ranks of expert advisers laughed because of a crack made by Undersecretary of State George Ball. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, who with Mr. Ball did most of the talking for the Washington team, noted that the word "honourable" in the draft communique had been spelled with a "u". He thought that was fine for Canadian ministers but perhaps it should be omitted for the American cabinet chaps. Chairman Donald Fleming then gave instructions that the letter "u" should be left out of the word "honourable" where that adjective was to be used to describe one of the U.S. cabinet delegates. Whereupon Under Secretary Ball quipped, "What it boils down Mr. Chairman is that United States cabinet officers are definitely 'non-U' ". Whereupon peals of laughter.

Grassland

Blizzard conditions on Thursday forced early closing of the Grassland School, but all students reached home safely. School re-opened on Friday, but some buses could not get through the snow blocked roads.

Andrew Bluda is in an Edmonton hospital.

Residents of the district journeyed to Athabasca on Thursday to see Matt Baldwin and Hector Gervais curl.

The Hrynyk, Mellot, Dakin and Heatherington team were at Boyle on Saturday to curl against the local ladies.

Francis Garnier was in Edmonton last week visiting his relatives.

The Grassland rink consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Orest Luchka, Messrs. Chodan and Spila, came second in the Grand Challenge cup at Athabasca Saturday.

Spruce Valley

Early last week the county snow plow plowed some of the district roads. By the end of the week they were all drifted in again due to snow and high winds.

Edward and Brownie Shymoniak were visitors in Edmonton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Zilinski, Gordon and Eddie were in Athabasca last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dong and Wayne, whose home was recently destroyed by fire, have moved to Edmonton. Their son Wayne was attending Grade 2 classes at the Grassland School.

Mrs. Caroline Zilinski is staying at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. Zilinski, at Athabasca. She is taking care of the home and children while Mrs. Annie Zilinski is visiting at her husband's lumber mill at Kinuso.

IT PAYS

A "Save - Your - Waste - Paper" campaign reminds one of the story of the four men who died on the same day.

One was an author. He left $5.

The third was a publisher. He left $500.

It pays to save "paper."

Mannville Elks Lodge Sponsors ACT-CFRN Search For Talent Show

MANNVILLE—Sponsored by Mannville Elks Lodge, the annual ACT Search for Talent Show was held at Mannville on Jan. 13 in the High School Auditorium. Out of 19 registered entries, three of whom were unable to attend, Miss Jennifer Kilborn, aged 17, of Federal, placed first with her pianoforte solo, 'Brahms Rhapsody in G Minor." Miss Diane Betty of Mannville placed second with a vocal solo "Tammy," accompanied by Miss Janice Weaver. Third place was won by a saxophone duet presented most capably by Lorne Wever and Clifford Myroniuk.

In the newly added junior section Danny Myroniuk, just turned eight years, stole the show and won first prize, with his piano accordion solo, of $10. The remaining three acts featuring Misses Marlene Kreller and Roxanna Manz, vocal duet, Misses Wendy Whitson and Sharon Cavanaugh, vocal duet, and vocal solo by Miss Wendy Cameron of Vermilion were recommended by the adjudicator for all to appear on Kiddies on Camera, CFRN TV show in the near future.

Mrs. Camille Ethier of Willingdon was the adjudicator and proved a most capable one, explaining the reasons for her decision. Miss Kilborn, she felt, played with an intensity of feeling which interpreted the composer's theme and had a future in the field of music. She urged all contestants to capture and portray the meaning of numbers selected by them.

William Fisher, known to all Mannville as "Bill," a former resident now living in Edmonton and in business there, was the ACT team captain and introduced the travellers. Prior to the show members of the ACT, CFRN Radio and TV stars, staff and guests were present at the supper catered to by Anglican GA girls at 6 p.m. in the Anglican parish hall.

Search for Talent and Spotlight Parade show, directed by Jack Benbow with Mrs. Molly Kvittem, pianist, Leon Kvittem in charge of lighting effects and Bob Robertson in sole charge of tape recording, sound, lighting and broadcasting arrangements, whose quiet assurance inspires the show, gave one hour of rollicking entertainment. George Lund and Johnny Forrest were noticeably absent from the show, unavoidably so.

Beautiful Maureen McGrath, a beloved Irish colleen, and a most attractive personality, was in good form as she sang her numbers with much feeling. Her rendition of "May You Always" was particularly enjoyed.

A new personality added to this year's show was Bob Adamson, formerly a Tofied lad, and now of South Edmonton. His numbers presented with such earnest sincerity displayed his prowess as a folk singer. His recitation, to musical accompaniment by lovely Miss Molly of TV fame, "Doc Brown moved Upstairs" was outstanding. Other songs included "The Cat Came Back" and "Three Pigs." He was presented with a cheque of appreciation for his appearance by Molson's Brewery. Bob paid high tribute to ACT and CFRN talent shows for their aid in shaping contestants' careers.

Another newcomer to the show was personable Ron Cotton, whose vocal solo "Streets of Loredo" displayed an amazing voice range in appealing manner. He also portrayed his versatility by his rock and roll numbers which drew thunderous applause from many young admirers.

Jack Wallace, who is no stranger to Mannville, delighted the audience with two popular numbers especially "When You Walk By" and "A Little Bittie Tear Let Me Down," his pleasing voice so made for easy listening (and the girls like his looks too!) He has been dubbed their favorite Western troubador.

About John Kerr, he is at ease in any role, but most particularly dancing, and his personality "shows."

Winner of the watch draw was Alan Dziki and the Christensen shirt went to Miss Rose Semeniuk of Myrnam. Mrs. Joan Lugg, on behalf of Mannville Elks, accepted a cheque for $25 from Molson's Brewery for their efforts. On behalf of Mannville - Minburn and Buffalo Coulee ATA sub-local, presentation was made by teacher Mr. Cushner of $5.45 to ACT for their worthy cause.

TWO HILLS — On Friday, Jan. 19, the Vegreville Vagabonds visited Two Hills to play two hard-fought games of basketball. During time out and quarter breaks the Two Hills and Vegreville cheerleaders provided entertainment for the crowd.

Theodore Peterson Allandale Pioneer

ALLENDALE — Who was the first man to winter in the Allandale district? This question came from Leslie Nelson and was in his school work. Mrs. Mabel Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Armstrong in town were able to help with the information.

Theodore Peterson was the first man, a bachelor. He homesteaded in 1905 the quarter across from Mrs. Stella Mayer's home now owned by Herb McPhee.

That year Mabel and Al Lee came from Fort Saskatchewan and were with Theodore through January and while there they were working putting up buildings on their own homestead now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nelson and family. They returned to Fort Saskatchewan where Mabel's folks were and on April 25, 1906 they took all their belongings, including some livestock, and arrived here on May 3, truly pioneers of the west.

How "Westerns" Challenge Us

By Irene Dunne, Actress and Delegate to the United Nations

Today's "Westerns" go back to that old American hero, the rugged individual. Why is the screen cowboy a hero, while the screen gangster is not? Because the gangster is not a free individual.

SOME people think that to lack responsibility is to be free. It is not so. We have only to look around at the world's oppressed people who have lost the freedom to decide for themselves.

Dunne

Their governments hold that the state should look out for the individual. Our country, however, was founded on the belief that the individuals must look out for the state.

This means that we have duties to our families, to our neighbors, to our nation, to our world, and to our God.

AN imposing list, is it not? But only free people possess those responsibilities. And only the carrying out of those responsibilities can keep us free.

Is it a burden to think of the needs of others, to act as we know we should? If so, such actions are the burdens of free men. They are a lot more pleasant and easy than having someone else do your thinking and acting for you.

HAVE we, however, as a people, declined in self-reliance? Is the pioneer spirit gone? No, we simply have new frontiers now — many more things to turn our hand to.

Large population, wealth, and industry only add to our responsibilities — and therefore to our opportunities for service. A motorist driving on a road with only a few cars has nowhere near the responsibility he has in driving on a rush-hour freeway.

Then again, with millions of words pouring upon us from all parts of the world, we face the danger of slackening our concern for events of tremendous proportions. "What," we may ask, "can I do about all this?" Well, we can keep a sense of perspective. We can form our own judgments among all the warring words and opinions.

ALSO, as we grow more inventive, there will be ever increasing leisure. What will we do with this time if we are already doubtful how to use the leisure we now have?

These are things that must be decided within us. They are in the realm of "moral decisions." Through them we fulfill our obligations to God, to others, and to ourselves.

For to serve is to have an aim in life which brings forth our best efforts. The challenge of today is the promise of a better tomorrow — for us and for the world.

TO bring it about is our responsibility. The fate of our nation and of our world depends on us.

ESTABLISH OFFICE IN ALBERTA:

Wycliffe Calls For 6,000 To Translate Bible In 2,000 Unwritten Languages

By Ken Larson

Over six years work went into learning the language of the Mixteco Indians and writing down their first alphabet, before a Wycliffe Bible Translators team was able to translate the Gospel of St. Mark. Working on the strength of the New Testament assertion that "faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" Mr. and Mrs. Howard Klassen, now of Calgary, labored diligently in their chosen ministry.

By the time their task was completed, they were still not disheartened despite the knowledge that in the six and one-half years they had been there, not a single convert to Christianity could be singled out.

However, their efforts to sow the seed of the Word of God for the Mixteco Indians in their native tongue bore fruit the very same year a new team replaced them. The "informant", an Indian who spoke some English and helped the Klassens learn Mixteco, became a believer. By 1960, when the Klassens revisited their former mission post, a church of nearly 100 staunch Christians was a thrilling sight for them to behold.

How did it happen? Missionairies taught the Indians to read. One man testified to his conversion from belief in nature gods and witch doctors. Others heard him, read the Gospel of Mark in their own tongue, and showed by changed lives that Christ had indeed come into their hearts.

This story is being repeated in 82 countries around the world where 248 Wycliffe Bible Translators are working. In Mexico, there are yet 10 unwritten languages. In the entire world, Wycliffe officials estimate their are yet 2,000 tongues to go. In other words, there are still thousands of persons who have no written language, and no one can tell them of the Son of God who gave his life for them at Calvary, because no one on the "Outside" can speak their tongue.

Wycliffe officials say that "six thousand consecrated trained young people, including necessary supporting personnel (base administrative and medical, together with pilots, radio and aviation technicians) can largely complete this holy task within this generation. They will need the financial support of their home churches and of other Christians".

It may come as a surprise to some Albertans, who consider Canada a literate country, but there are Indian tribes in "our home and native land" with alphabets originated by missionaries in by gone years which are wholly inadequate, compared with today's standards of linguistic science.

Work with Canadian tribes started in 1955. Vicor and Ania Monus are working near Fort Wrigley, NWT, wih he Slavey Indians. Bill and June Davidson, who serve the Baptist Union of Western Canada church at Yellowknife, NWT, are attached to the Dogrib-Athabasca tribe. Don and Patricia Frantz have been working with the Blackfeet Indians in Montana and Southern Alberta.

Howard Klassen, who has been given a three-year assignment as deputational secretary of western Canada for Wycliffe, has opened an office in his home in Calgary.

His job is to build up a knowledge of bible translation work among people in western Canadian communities, to supply missionary speakers and films to churches, to find local representatives recruited from among businessmen, and to form prayer groups. Mr. Klassen has spent 13 years working in Mexico. He will go to Germany this fall for a period, and will assist in launching a summer institute of linguistics, where linguistics is taught and research conducted to help governments with illiteracy problems where they have a number of unwritten languages.

Says Mr. Klassen: Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc., is a faith missionary enterprise, conceived in prayer, founded in 1934 by W. Cameron Townsend, aided by the late L. L. Legters. Wycliffe Bible Translators was incorporated in 1942 as a non-profit missionary organization under the state laws of California, U.S.A. Its doctrine is:

The divine inspiration and consequent authority of the whole canonical Scriptures.

The doctrine of the Trinity.

The atonement through the substitutionary death of Christ.

The doctrine of justification by faith.

The resurrection of the body, both in the case of the just and of the unjust.

The eternal life of the saved and the eternal punishment of the lost.

Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc., operates closely with its affiliate corporation, the Summer Institute of Linguistics through which many of the technical and academic activities necessary for the Bible translation task are conducted.

The Jungle Aviation and Radio Service, JAARS, is a department of the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc., comprising a group of pilots, airplane mechanics, and radio technicians whose services make pioneering practicable in jungle and other isolated areas.

HOWARD KLASSEN

HE WAS THERE

The reporter was sent to write up a charity ball. Next day the editor called him to his desk:

"Look, here, what do you mean by this?" 'Among the most beautiful girls was Horatio Lucian Dingley.' Why, you crazy idiot! Old Dingley isn't a girl — and besides he's one of our principal shareholders."

"I can't help that," returned the realistic reporter. "That's where he was."
